About Dr. Ross

A physician, author, and nationally recognized speaker, Dr. Carolyn Ross is a graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School and an alumnus of Dr. Andrew Weil's Program in Integrative Medicine at the University of Arizona.

She also holds a master's degree in public health with an emphasis on international health. She has more than 20 years experience as a practicing physician specializing in women's health and integrative medicine.

Dr. Ross formerly served as the Head of the Eating Disorders Program and Head of Integrative Therapies at Sierra Tucson, an internationally respected treatment center in Arizona.

She has authored three books, including, "Miracles in Healing," which recounts her journey of self-healing while offering a mesmerizing exploration of alternative and complementary healing modalities, and "Healing Body Mind and Spirit: An Integrative Medicine Approach to The Treatment of Eating Disorders," which guides professionals in an integrative medicine approach to the treatment of eating disorders based on the highly successful program she developed at Sierra Tucson.

Her third book, "The Overcoming Binge Eating and Compulsive Overeating Workbook" will offer an interactive guide to healing from binge eating and compulsive overeating, and is due to be published in 2009.

Dr. Ross has a private practice in Denver, Colorado and is an acclaimed national speaker. She is a consultant for the eating disorders program at The Ranch near Nashville, Tennessee which specializes in treating multiply diagnosed patients (eating disorder, chemical dependency and trauma) using the integrative medicine approach she pioneered."

What People Say:

Dr. Carolyn Ross is a pioneer in the use of Integrative medicine for the treatment of mental health issues and eating disorders. Her compassion and understanding bring hope to patients and family members whose lives are affected by these difficult problems by showing us that transformation and healing at the deepest level are possible.

Andrew Weil, MD
Physician and Best Selling Author,
Leader in Alternative Medicine

Dr. Carolyn Ross really knows how to deliver to an audience. After hearing her first presentation, I asked Dr. Ross to write a chapter on integrative medicine for the 3rd edition of my own book, "The Eating Disorder Sourcebook."

Carolyn Costin MFT, MA, MEd
Founder & Executive Director,
The Monte Nido Treatment Center

Carolyn Ross is one of the nation's leading experts on integrative approaches to eating disorders. A passionate and enlightening speaker, she brings creative solutions to challenging problems.

Dr. Carolyn Ross is a physician, healer, and heroine - someone who has taken a dangerous path, gained wisdom, and returned to share her knowledge with the rest of us.

Larry Dossey, MD
Author, The Extraordinary Healing Power of Ordinary Things

Dr. Carolyn Ross is an excellent clinician and worked with some of the toughest patients at Sierra Tucson. Although she worked primarily as a clinician, she went to the extra effort of conducting outcome studies to follow the course of her patients treatment and the results of certain interventions. In doing so she was able to make improvements in the program and deliver the highest quality of care.
